

Free Time at Airlie

The Center's natural setting provides a scenic backdrop for jogging, biking, fishing, swimming, tennis, etc. Guests can also arrange for golf or horseback riding nearby with the help of an Airlie conference planner.

The Whistling Swan, Airlie's European style pub is a favorite gathering spot. Continue the day's discussion, play a game of billiards or backgammon, or simply relax and enjoy a roaring fire.

"The Stanley Foundation has been using Airlie Center for its annual foreign policy conference since 1963. As a conference planner, I have been coming to Airlie over the past 12 years. I am, first of all, attracted to its fabulous setting. It seems peaceful even if the place is fully booked. Mother nature still has a chance to work her magic on you. Because of this, the Center works beautifully for get-away type gatherings. The accommodations are lovely and because the buildings are comfortably scattered about, you get a chance to experience the setting in which you have been placed. We always get good reviews about Airlie from our guests. That's why we always come back!"

Airlie and the Environment

Airlie pays careful attention to the delicate balance between the natural environment and its conference operations. This environmental commitment is reflected in a wide range of green initiatives. Some of these include: recycling and a linen and towel reuse program, organic culinary garden, energy efficient lighting, and non-toxic biodegradable cleaning products. Airlie holds environmental certification from Green Seal's Environmental Lodging Program and the Virginia Environmental Excellence Program.

Location

Airlie is located near Warrenton Virginia just 50 miles southwest of Washington, DC, approximately 45 minutes from Dulles Airport, and one hour from Reagan National Airport.

EXPERIENCE AIRLIE

An Island of Thought

Airlie Conference Center has provided a uniquely stimulating environment for the creative exchange of ideas for nearly half a century. Located in Virginia's tranquil Piedmont region, yet close to Dulles airport and metropolitan Washington, D.C., Airlie's secluded campus provides the ideal setting for efficient and productive meetings.

Airlie's success is reflected in the number of groups returning each year. This cross-section of clients ranges from small non-profit groups to international, educational and government organizations whose leadership, based on experience, continues to perceive Airlie as a unique environment for achieving targeted meeting goals.

"The quality of customer service at Airlie is exceptional. The staff goes out of its way to help us in every possible way. Their support and dedication have proven invaluable on numerous occasions."

Dining at Airlie

Conference guests enjoy three buffet meals daily in the Airlie Dining Room featuring creative cuisine, which emphasizes regional fare. The chef incorporates seasonal ingredients from an organic vegetable garden on the Center's campus (The Local Food Project), which provides fruits, vegetables and herbs directly to the kitchen.

At Home at Airlie

Airlie Center's guest accommodations include 150 rooms with eight private en suite cottage rooms. Guests can easily walk from the lodging buildings to any destination on campus. All rooms have private baths, high-speed internet access and cable television.

Complete Meetings

As a member of the International Association of Conference Centers (IACC) since 1990, Airlie's commitment to successful meetings is a priority. Airlie's Complete Meeting Package (CMP) simplifies the conference planning process with an all-inclusive, per person, per day rate which includes:

- Lodging
- Conference Dining
- General Session Room
- Dedicated Conference Planner
- Continuous morning and afternoon Refreshment Breaks
- Standard Conference Technology (with LCD Projector)
